

Skin Care products containing oxybenzone

<http://www.ewg.org/skindeep/browse.php?category=sunscreen&ingred06=704372#.Wegx00uGPrd>

This is a long list of products from the environmental working group, but past product # 775 (starting on page 78) are all old products that no longer follow the same formula, therefore irrelevant. This list is the most comprehensive I could find but I'm sure it doesn't have everything. Also, it does not list percentage.

Here are some examples I pulled from the list. I looked up the ingredients on Amazon, which I trust as a source because the ingredients are often listed by the manufacturer or there are pictures of the product's ingredient list. I only included the relevant information of how much oxybenzone and octinoxate the product contains. There doesn't seem to be much difference between sunscreen and other products on the percentage of oxybenzone.

Aveeno Active Naturals Clear Complexion BB Cream, Fair to Light, SPF 30

Octinoxate 7.5%, Oxybenzone 2%

Neutrogena Healthy Skin Compact Makeup SPF 55, Fresh Beige

NOTE: Looked at 3 foundations containing spf just to look quickly and none had oxybenzone. I looked at one from Revlon, Covergirl, and Neutrogena. I can look into more if it comes up as needed.

List of products containing oxybenzone as an ingredient, by type

<http://www.marinesafe.org/science-and-data/list-of-products/>

This is an NGO called Marine Safe and Dr. Craig Downs is actually on the Advisory Board. They list the number of brands sold per type in the US. This is great to give an overall sense of how many products contain oxybenzone. However, we can't verify this list is correct, since they don't list the products specifically. Also, since we don't know the details of the products, we don't know if this is mostly off-brand, area specific items we wouldn't find in HI or name brand items sold across the US.

The number in brackets indicates the number of brands sold per type in the US
