Phase 1: Hazardous Materials

Phase 2: Consolidated Debris Removal Program

Hazardous Materials Removal & Infrastructure Assessments

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency removes hazardous materials like paints, solvents, oils, batteries and pesticides from fire impacted properties. Building inspectors will determine whether a building is safe to enter.

Public Access

Community members will be permitted to return to their properties and retrieve items once it is deemed safe by officials.

Enrollment

Maui County collects right-of-entry forms from property owners and provides them to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to access private properties.

Ash and Fire-Damaged Material Removal

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers will remove approved fire-damaged materials from private property upon approval from the property owner.

Environmental Testing

Environmental testing will be completed to ensure a property is safe to rebuild.

About the fire debris removal program

The August 2023 Maui Wildfires Disaster damaged or destroyed more than 2,000 Maui properties and will require a coordinated fire debris removal cleanup. The County of Maui will oversee priorities during the fire cleanup while working in partnership with state and federal agencies who are here to support the community with this process. The cleanup process includes two phases:

- Phase 1: removal of hazardous materials
- Phase 2: removal of other fire debris (shortcut to Right of Entry Application portal)
