Aloha,

I appreciate your consideration of the sustainable tourism initiative being put forth by Elle Cochran, and if there's still time to do so I wanted to offer a little bit of input for the committee's consideration.

Mahalo for all your efforts!

Some thoughts off the top of my head:

A form on the airplane that educates visitors is awesome—but it would be even more awesome if it were digital somehow so it isn't creating more paper, storage, weight on the planes, staff to transport/manage it, etc. Unfortunately I don't have an answer for that off the top of my head, but just a thought.

As for the training of activity staff, concierge, etc (which I highly support!), I think it would behoove the motion to have that part well defined in terms of a curriculum, topics to be covered, length of study, and the credentials required for the staff who would teach the course.

Same goes for the list of volunteer opportunities. Is there a vetting process for inclusion?
